

Cora Kaestner

Community Outreach and Program Development

Cora Kaestner, LMSW, attended Boise State University for her undergraduate and graduate studies. She received a Bachelor of Arts in Curriculum and Instructional Design and a Master of Social Work. Cora spent two years as an elementary school teacher before pursuing her MSW.

During her graduate studies, she interned as a clinician for the Children's Mental Health Unit for Health and Welfare. Here she served children, adolescents, and families through wraparound mental health services. Cora also interned as a School Social Worker during her graduate studies, where she provided mental health services to students and families, and served as the homeless liaison for her designated schools.

Cora began working for Noble Intent in 2021 as a mental health therapist. She is now the Community Outreach Coordinator and Program Developer for the agency. When she is not working, Cora enjoys spending time hiking on the trails of the Boise Foothills, swimming, picnicking, playing volleyball, and spending time with her husband and son.
